IMPINGTON VILLAGE COLLEGE.

Mrs. Pearson reported that 673 pupils attended the College and despite earlier misgivings the grammar stream was progressing successfully. The G.C.E. results had been very satisfactory. The Open Day, when parents could meet the teachers and discuss their children's progress, had been well attended. The school library was very well stocked and some 5,300 books had been borrowed last term. The Parent Teachers Association was not as well supported as had been hoped, and Mrs. Pearson appealed for greater support from parents. The Association was doing very good work in raising money for various projects - the latest being in respect of a swimming pool.

The Adult Education classes, although not very well attended, were of a varied nature and worthy of more support.
